DEBS REBUKED FOR SPEECH AT STATION

Special Officer Reprimands Socialist Leader For Speaking Without Permit

REITERATES STAND

Left Yesterday For Indiana Home—Says Plans For Future Are Indefinite.

Washington, Dec. 28.—Freed by President Harding from Atlanta federal penitentiary, where he was serving a ten year sentence for making speeches in violation of the war laws, Eugene V. Debs, Socialist leader, was reprimanded tonight by Union Station police here for making a speech without permit before leaving for his home in Terre Haute, Ind.

Before boarding his train Debs addressed a crowd of several hundred persons in the station, including admirers who had come to say good-bye, expressing his gratitude for his reception in Washington and closing with a reiteration of his opposition to war and belief in the force of love in the redemption of the world.

No effort was made by uniformed police in the crowd to interfere with the address, but immediately upon its conclusion a plainclothes man rushed up to Debs and demanded if he had a permit to speak in the station and, upon being informed in the negative, declared:

"You have taken a great liberty."

Debs, who had grasped the plainclothes man by the hand under the impression that he was a well-wisher, apologized and said he had not known he was doing wrong.

Debs went immediately to his train, but considerable exictement prevailed in the crowd, due chiefly to the efforts of newspaper men to learn the identity of the plainclothes man. He refused to give his name, but after rather excited bickering with reporters declared he was the chief of police of the Union Station and flashed a badge pinned to his belt. He said he had had no special orders with respect to Debs, but that the regulations of the station forbid speechmaking without a permit.

Debs' speech was his first platform utterance since leaving prison.

"I wish," he said, "to do myself the justice to return my grateful thanks for the kindness shown me here.

"Many disagree with me in an economic and social way," he added, "but we are all human, and one touch of nature makes the whole world kin."

Debs declared that he left Washington "without a trace of bitterness or hatred," adding that "many hate me," but that they were entitled to their feelings and the expression of them.

"I believe in free speech," he said. "In the expression of these differing opinions we find our way to higher civilization."

"With every drop of blood in my veins," he concluded, "I am opposed to war. Human life is too sacred a thing to be spent in bloodshed. Love is the gratest force in this world; love will redeem us, love will save us and write our names in the depths of civilization."

Debs and his party are scheduled to reach Indianapolis at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow and proceed from there to Terre Haute, planning to reach the Socialist leader's home at about 7 o'clock tomorrow night, in time for a demonstration of welcome which is said to have been arranged for him.

Debs was given the lighted lantern here today as "an honest man." Urbain Ledoux, who once sold labor on an auction block on Boston Commons and later picketed the "consciences" of the arms conference delegates here, made the presentation.

Ledoux called upon Debs at the latter's hotel carrying a lighted lantern and a copy of the Sermon on the Mount. He presented the copy of the sermon to Debs and made a speech in which he likened the force of the Socialist leader to the force which moved mountains.

Like Diogenes, he said, he had been carrying the lantern in search of an honest man.

"But since I have met you," Ledoux said, "I have no further use for it."

Rites for J. B. Sullivan

The funeral of James Bemis Sullivan took place this afternoon from his residence in Cottage Park. Services were conducted by Rev. Dr. S. A. Wallis, rector of Immanuel Episcopal chapel. Burial was in Union cemetery. Members of Andrew Jackson lodge of Masons attended.

The pallbearers were: E. W. Jenkins, T. Rice Crown, P. C. Grilly, W. A. Black, C. E. Cox, J. D. Worsham.

VIRGINIA NEWS PARAGRAPHED

Richmond.—A. G. Lucas, state mine inspector, here from a long tour of inspection, says that not more than 25 per cent. of the miners are at work in southwest Virginia, and that there are great numbers of mines which are completely closed. Mr. Lucas, describing the railroad yards at Bluefield, says there are not fewer than 1,000 cars loaded with coal awaiting orders, and that the same condition obtains at Roanoke and Crewe, the trains being sidetracked and held for orders. The operators are allowing the miners to occupy their homes free of rent until they can find employment. Coal is being sold at anywhere from $1.15 to $1.50 a ton on the cars at the mines, which is a considerable reduction over the last few months, and this will be reduced after the first of the year when the war tax comes off. The contract with the miners expires in March, and it is plain that the new contract to be offered the miners will be much lower than that now existing.

Suffolk.—One of Suffolk's well known business men, living just outside of the city on a farm, had an unusual experience last week, while all of the trucks and automobiles from near-by cities and towns have been stripping the woods and farms of Christmas trees, holly and mistletoe and carrying them to Norfolk and Portsmouth for sale. Driving home in the afternoon and thinking that he must get a Christmas tree for his children, he passed a boy on the road dragging a large and beautiful cedar tree. When the boy replied "fifty cents," he paid him, placing the tree in his buggy and carrying it home. As he reached the house, a servant came out and excitedly told him that some boys had been on his farm and cut down his finest cedar tree, carrying it off. When the surprised man looked at the tree he found he had purchased his own cedar tree, which had been his pride for many years.

Danville.—The "unloaded" pistol played its role here during the Christmas season when Frank Pollock, a well known young Danville man, was painfully injured by Lee A. Wilson. The two were in a local pool room, Pollock having a small toy pistol used to detonate blanks. Both men had been playing with the empty pistol and had put it down. When Wilson picked it up again he thought it was still unloaded. He placed it close to Pollock's head and fired. The wadding made an ugly wound in the corner of Pollock's mouth and part of his face was seared by the blast and impregnated with gun powder. It was necessary to scrape the bone and to inject anti-tetanus serum.

Danville.—Employees of the Dan River Mills, about 5,500 men and women, found a welcomed surprise waiting for them Saturday at noon when they were paid off prior to the week's holiday. The pay roll was made up for nine days instead of six, this constituting a 50 per cent. bonus on the week's work. This increase cost the cotton mill company $147,000.

Danville.—Mrs. Percy Sigman, who lives near Schoolfield, was more than a match last night for Sol Douglas, a negro, who is alleged to have attempted to force his way into her home while she was alone. After vainly arguing with the negro she fled down a hallway, secured an automatic revolver and fired twice at the intruder then in her house. He at once ran but was later caught by the Schoolfield police and is now in jail awaiting trial.

Richmond. — The commissioners named by the court to examine into the condition of the city jail today made another report to the judge of the corporation court, in which they say that no attention has been paid to the prison since it was first made. The condition of the place is declared to be wretched, infested with vermin, the food is not protected by wire screens, the beds are foul and there are few sheets in the place. The report says that conditions are such that they should be remedied at once The new city sergeant, who takes charge of the prison January 1, says he wants to see the city build a modern jail and in a section that is healthier and where the ventilation is better. The new officer says he will clean out the present structure and make it the best possible under all the circumstances.

Charlottesville.—The residence at Keswick, owned and for years occupied by Dr. Francis L. Thurman, was burned to the ground Friday afternoon. It was occupied by R. George, a road contractor, who saved some of his furniture and belongings. The building was a ten room frame structure.

Danville.—City firemen answered a freak call last night when an alarm was sent in from Main Street Methodist Church shortly before the hour of evening worship. A toy hot air balloon released by neighborhood children became caught in the steeple and, bursting into flames gave the impression that the steeple was on fire.

It is unlawful to mutilate a national bank note so that it may not be reissued. There is no law against the destruction of other kinds of paper money.

FRENCH AND CHINESE ISSUES MORE TANGLED

Instructions to French Delegates Are Said to Forbid Compromise

JAPS STAND FIRM

New Conference Forecasted by White House to Deal With Questions Left Unsettled.

Washington Dec. 28.—Developments regarded here as distinctly discouraging to the American and British delegations to the Arms Conference marked the first day after the Christmas recess.

These, summarized, were:

Instructions, which are said to forbid acceptance of the American compromise on submarines will be laid bfore the Naval Armament Committee tomorrow by the French delegates.

The Japanese, after receiving instructions from home, announced that they would make no further concessions as to Shantung.

The Japanese also intimated that they might ask exemption of their homeland from the Pacific treaty provisions.

On top of this came the definite forecast from the White House of a further conference, probably within a year, to take up the submarine and auxiliary craft issue with other sea-power nations, as well as the Chinese question, if these are not settled by the present discussinos.

The second conference, it was indicated, also might consider the European economic status, although the President let it be known that he is still firmly behind the pending Foreign Debt Refunding bill.

Suggestion for this future conclave met with a cold reception at the State Department, where keen hopes are still held for more far-reaching results from the present one. In some quarters this attitude was taken to show a renewed lack of sympathy between the Department and the White House.

Washington, Dec. 28.—Following receipt this evening by the French delegates of instructions from Paris on the submarine question and a brief conference between M. Sarraut and Admiral De Bon with Secretary Hughes, word spread around Washington that the Hughes submarine proposals, made last Saturday, were unsatisfactory to the French.

The latter's position will be set forth tomorrow in the session of the Naval Committee, it is stated. Whether their instructions will lead them to flat stand for 90,000 submarine tonnage, or will permit them to affect a compromise between that claim and the Hughes proposal that they accept the status quo, which would give them about 31,500 tons, is not known.

These reports came at the close of a day of gloom and stagnation. The hope that France would come into line on submarines did not expire, but it faded fast. Added to that, as a cause for pessimism, the Conference found itself able to do little more in Far Eastern questions than tinker here and there—in a way that gave little aid and comfort to the Chinese, Japan stood in the way of progress, for after receiving a cablegram from Tokio the delegates let it be understood that they would make no more concessions in the Shantung railway controversy.

The net of the day in Far Eastern matters was information that the Chinese probably will be granted an effective 5 per cent, customs duty, instead of the present nominal 5 per cent., which actually yields but 3 1-2 per cent.; and a statement from one of the Japanese delegates that Japan probably will seek to exempt her homeland from the four-power treaty.

NEW YEAR PLANS

Welcome to be Accorded Miss 1922—Bells and Whistles to et Loose

Plans are being formulated for a fitting New Year's celebration in Alexandria following a time honored custom. Saturday night will ring out the old and welcome the New Year. The bells of the city will announce the passing of 1921 and on the stroke of midnight they will let looose to acclaim the birth of Miss 1922. There will be watch night services at some of the churches and there will be many private parties and dances to witness the passing of the old and birth of the New Year

On New Year's day, Sunday church services will be in order. Monday, however, will generally be observed and many lines of activity will cease on that day.

The greatest length from east to west of the United States is 2,750 miles, the greatest width is 1,680 miles; the area is 3,026,789 square miles, exclusive of Alaska, which contains 500,884 square miles.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(From our Special Correspondent.)

Washington, Dec. 28.—A Congressional "Junket" has just returned to Washington from an official visit looking into conditions in Haiti. As usual, the members of the little party took a great mass of testimony in the island, examined all sorts of witnesses and then prepared for their trip homeward. As the government ship on which the party travelled was being loaded, a large batch of "Congressional Records" was placed on the ship. The stevedores, in handling the "Records" discovered that most of them were "leaking." Of cource, the Senators who formed part of the trip strenuously deny that any "wet goods" were loaded on the government transport at Port Au Prince, but if they want to verify their statements, they will probably not call upon those who hustled the "Records" into the cabins of the steamer. And to make the whole story more binding, the party reached Washington just before Christmas Day.

The conference on Limitation of Armaments was today nearer a deadlock than it has been at any time during its nearly two months of work. Neither the American nor the French delegates were in a position to deny that a critical stage has been reached where one side or the other must back down before there can be an agreement. Neither the French or the Americans were willing to say that other than the irreducible minimum program has been set out from which there will be no recession.

The United States government was waiting with interest to hear from the meeting of the French Cabinet in Paris in the hope that some sort of concession or some conciliatory gesture might come from that quarter. But confidants of M. Albert Sarraut, head of the French delegation, were predicting today there would be none, for M. Sarraut has rcommended none, and the American government has already learned to its sorrow that Sarraut controls the French Cabinet and not the Cabinet Sarraut.

Attorney General Daugherty today started a "drive" against profiteers in clothing, fuel and food. He addressed letters to the several state Attorneys General and to the U. S. attorneys throughout the country explaining to them the object of the investigation which will soon be under way, and which is the result of certain information being placed in the hands of the head of the Department of Justice showing that profiteers in foodstuffs, clothing and coal are still carrying on their nefarious practices in many of the principal cities of the country.

In his letter to the officials of the various states the Attorney General points out that while no doubt states already have laws on the statute books dealing with the problem of excessive prices, apparently they have not been invoked heretofore He calls upon these Attorneys General to cooperate with the Department of Justice in making the forthcoming probe a success and in bringing the guilty parties to terms.

President Harding expects a general call for a conference of many more nations than are included in the present conference to be arranged before adjournment of this conference This was made plain at the White House today. Such a conference will not in any way be contingent on an agreement in regard to auxiliary naval craft reached here but will be held entirely on its merits in the hope of furthering the spirit of naval limitations,

The President would be glad for the conference to be held in the United States, but inasmuch as the call is in the hands of the Powers represented here they will retermine where it shall be held and when.

It is fairly well established that the President, by announcing the plan of another conference including many nations, has forestalled any objection for submarine reductions by the French on the grounds that they might be outbuilt in that respect by other European powers.

Definite Plans For Road From Here To Fairfax

Enthusiastic Mass Meeting in Chamber of Commerce In Interest of Modern Highway Between Alexandria and Fairfax Courthouse

ABOUT 300 IN ATTENDANCE

State Highway Commissioners Hear Able Arguments Advanced on Necessity of Building Proposed Road, Distance of Fourteen Miles—Many Residents of Fairfax Present—Expect That Road Will be Started Early in the Spring—Those Who Attended the Meeting Feel Gratified Over the Outcome of the Discussion.

Definite steps were taken today toward the building of a modern highway between this city and Fairfax Courthouse, a distance of fourteen miles, at a largely attended mass meeting held in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce.

Members of the state highway commission headed by State Highway Commissioner George P. Coleman were present and heard the arguments in favor of the construction of the road. The members of the highway commission attending included: Wade H. Massie, of Washington, Va., chairman; H. T. Beck, Richmond; Horace Hardaway, Bristol; F. W. Davie, Lawrenceville, and J. H. Bear, Roanoke.

The meeting was called to order by Mayor James M. Duncan who, on behalf of the city of Alexandria, extended a welcome to the visitors.

The meeting was presided over by Wade H. Massie, chairman of the board.

After a general discussion regarding the necessity for the construction of this roadway a special committee was appointed to confer regarding financing the proposition and they made a most favorable report which those in attendance feel confident will result in the construction of the proposed highway early in the spring.

The special committee was composed of members of the board of supervisors of Fairfax county, officials of Alexandria and the members of the state highway commission. The conference lasted about half an hour.

The question of the refunding of the money which will be allocated by the state was the main issue at stake and this difficulty will, it is believed, be surmounted from the report submitted.

Attending the meeting, in addition to the highway commissioners, were members of the board of supervisors of Fairfax county, and a large and representative gathering of citizens of Fairfax county together with a large delegation of officials of Alexandria, together with many of the leading business men of the city. It is estimated that at least 300 persons attended.

Garner L. Boothe, after the meeting had been called to order, addressed the gathering. He explained the object of the meeting, as being for the construction of a modern roadway between Alexandria and Fairfax Courthouse. The matter, he said, was of utmost importance not only to the citizens of Alexandria but to the residents of the surrounding country.

This section, he declared, is not accessible to the Valley of Virginia owing to the bad condition of the roads. Alexandria, he asserted, is the largest city in northern Virginia, and he believed it only emminently fair that it should be connected with Winchester with a good road; and he urged the commission to see that such a road is built. He argued that the construction of such a road would be of great benefit to northern Virginia, and make it possible to reach the Valley of Virginia in two hours, while now it takes six or eight hours by railroad.

The question of financing was asked of the commission by W. A. Smoot, and he questioned Commissioner Coleman regarding the necessary procedure to be followed.

Chairman Massie assured the gathering that there was no road more important than the one now being considered, and that there will be an allocation of funds for its construction. This statement was received with applause.

In reply to a question of Carroll Pierce as to the plans submitted for financing the construction of the road, Mr. Massie replied that these plans provide for a bond issue to be made by Fairfax county and for the money to be allocated by the state to be eventually returned to the county, the state, however, not to pay any interest on the bonds.

Frank Ballenger, member of the board of supervisors of Fairfax county, urged the commission to accept the proposition of Fairfax county and said he thought this was a favorable time to act. Mr. Ballenger said Fairfax county already had voted for a bond issue for $500,000 to build the road.

George Harrison, member of the board of supervisors of Fairfax spoke on the acceptance of the contract and he told of how hard he had worked to have the bond issue of $500,000 adopted by Fairfax county in the interest of the building of this road.

Thomas R. Keith made an address in which he outlined the position of the commission in reference to this construction, telling the meeting of the powers of the county in the premises regarding the return of the funds allocated for such work. Mr. Keith in his opening remarks suggested that someone cut the strings attached to the proposition and advocated getting to work. The matter, he said, had been discussed for the past twenty years, adding that Fairfax now had arrived at a pretty definite conclusion regarding the matter, and he added that the bond issue for this road had been passed by a substantial majority. The plan, he said, provided that the county of Fairfax issue bonds for $500,000 on the understanding that it would be returned within a period of four years. Commissioner Coleman said he did not wish to do anything more than was authorized by the state.

Continuing, Mr. Keith said the legislature must have intended to have given the people some definite assurance or something reasonably definite, adding that if the statute did not so provide it is worthless.

Mr. Keith said he thought the commission ought to strain a point, if necessary, and give a reasonable assurance that the money would be repaid in five years, and if this were done he thought the people of Fairfax would be satisfied. Mr. Keith told the commission that there is no road in Virginia more important than this one, it being vital to Fairfax county and the key to the situation; and he concluded by expressing hope that the commission could find a way to carry out the plan proposed.

Wilson Farr, of Fairfax, told of the plans for the election for he bond issue and of correspondence he had with Commissioner Coleman. Mr. Farr said the officials of Fairfax admitted there was an honest misunderstanding regarding the refund of the money. This he declared had now been removed and the statute he declared gives the commission the right to fix terms for the refunding of the money. Mr. Farr said that if a plan could be worked out providing for the repayment of the money to Fairfax county in a period of five years he felt confident that they could get the road improved right away.

John S. Barbour concurred in the statements made as to the necessity for the rebuilding of this road, and discussed the legal questions involving the bond issue as provided for by the freeholders of Fairfax. The board, he said, was voted on the strength of a very definite plan which he declared was binding upon the authorities of Fairfax county. If they deviated in any manner from the original plan, he declared, they could be enjoined by any property-holder of Fairfax from issuing the bonds. Continuing, Mr. Barbour said: "We, therefore, have got to act in good faith and it is within the power of the commission to carry out the pleasure of the board." The question, he said, is whether or not the commission has the legal power, and he quoted a section of the statute setting forth that it had this power. Mr. Barbour said that the fact that the commission is authorized to enter into a contract for money gives it a wide power. The only limitation, he declared, is that it shall not pay interest. Concluding, Mr. Barbour said: "You are authorized to agree with boards for the return of funds without interest. When you act on the assumption that the people are back of you you have discharged your duty, and there can be no doubt about your power to use the money, to be returned in the fu-

Watch Night Service at Christ Church

According to the time honored custom of many people in many lands the New Year of 1922 will be ushered in by the congregation of Christ Church at a watch night meeting. Preceding the meeting a reception will be given the rector and his wife at the parish hall and he especially desires that every member of his congregation will be present on this occasion, also he wishes to extend the invitation to the strangers in Alexandria, for every one will be most cordially welcomed and made to feel at home. Besides the friendly greetings exchanged, light refreshments will be served and a program is being arranged so that music will be enjoyed throughout the evening. At 11:40 p. m. every one will be requested to adjourn to the Church where a short service will be held. The singing will be lead by the choir and all will be urged to join in the hymns. Just as midnight approaches, Mrs. George E. Pickett will sing as a solo that poem of Tennyson's which has now been placed in the new hymnal, "Ring Out, Wild Bells To the Wild Sky." The Flying Cloud, the frosty light, the year is dying in the night, Ring out, wild bells, and let him die." And the service will close with a New Year's benediction from the rector.

A. L. I. WINS ANOTHER

The A. L. I. basketball team continued its winning streak last night when they defeated the Mercury A. C. by the score of 41 to 16 before a large crowd at the Armory. Williams playing forward for the soldiers made 10 field goals while Morgan, a new comer with the soldiers made 8 goals from the floor and one free toss. Stanley Dreifus, a new recruit, played well for his team, making two baskets in his first minute of play. Degroote and Peyton also held their own at the guard positions. The following is the line up:

A. L. I.	Positions	Mercury
Alexander	forward	De Atley
Williams	forward	Polaski
Morgan	center	Peterson
Degroote	guard	McCauley
Peyton	guard	Carrick

Sub.—Hayden for Peyton, Dreifus for Alexander, Golden for Carrick. Goals from field—Williams, 10, Morgan 8, Dreifus 2, Golden 3, McCauley 2, Peterson, Potaski. Free toss—Morgan, Peterson, McCauley. Refree—Mr. Entwisle.

Women on an average, have broader heads in proportion to their length, and darker eyes and hair than men.

STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION MEETS IN ALEXANDRIA

The meeting of the State Highway Commission in the Chamber of Commerce today, is one of the most important events of the year as far as Alexandria is concerned. The Commission was open-minded and in entire accord with the desires of Fairfax County and Alexandria. A large number of the public-spirited citizens of our neighboring county were present, our own citizenship splendidly in evidence, and we feel sure of the final result. The bringing of Alexandria into direct contact and intercourse with the unrivalled Valley of Virginia is an event that will indeed mark a red-letter day in her history.

THE LATE JOHN T. HARRISON

The Gazette is indebted to Judge Moncure for the eloquent tribute paid to the late John T. Harrison in today's paper. Representing the cause of organized labor, as Mr. Harrison did through a long and useful life, his fairness and scrupulous conduct in the matters arising from time to time between capital and labor wrought untold good in Alexandria, and by example, elsewhere as well. The words of Judge Moncure are a just tribute to a worthy citizen. We commend it to our readers for more than a casual glance. It contains in embryo the philosophy of the true relationship that should exist between capital and labor.

BRITAIN AND THE SUBMARINE

When war shall become so terrible that it spells ruin and annihilation to both combatants. Humanity itself will forbid its practice among nations. We fear that the wiping out of one of the participants alone, would not accomplish this. It is only when both parties know beforehand that, in equal possession of the awful secrets of Nature, neither can emerge the victor,—war will be seen and understood in its true aspect—that of the suicide of nations and races. Mankind has come to a common belief, for the most part, that the Everlasting has fixed His canon against self-slaughter; and the universal use of the newly-discovered methods of using the forces of chemistry and electricity mean neither more nor less than national suicide.

As in the days of dueling and single combat, it would have been deemed the height of folly to use bombs or any other agency that meant the certain extinction of both combatants, so in these days of recent warfare men have had it thrust upon them that it is folly for both parties to invite certain death. The battle is no longer to the strong. Science lends her aid to the weak, as well, and thus renders victory too costly; worthless because utterly inadequate to the price to be paid. The use of gun powder in the middle ages destroyed the era of knighthood and chivalry; stripped the wars of their glamour of romance and heroism; and thus rendered obsolete the old ideals.

The use of new chemicals and explosives in the late world-war has had much the same effect on mankind as the first usage of cannon and mine and musketry. It has in all human probability given the finishing touch to general warfare among peoples. But if this has not been achieved by the last war, it is the certain result of the next war. No later than the next century will witness the abolition of great armies and navies and their replacement by sea-sheriffs and land-sheriffs; that is, the forces of the world will be maintained for police purposes only. During the terrible closing days of the world-war the United States had already passed the brink of the discovery of thitherto unknown forces and agencies; some of them so awful in their powers of instant and universal destruction that they would have compelled immediate surrender. As we have said before, we hope—we almost believe—that the present Conference will accomplish the ends of lasting peace. But should it not, then the next war will undoubtedly disclose to mankind the utter folly of all war—and thus bring about its everlasting cessation.

Strange as it may seem, the dogged insistence of Great Britain on the prohibition of the submarine in future wars is in exact line with the argument herein advanced. Her claim is that its use is too terrible for civilized warfare. The smaller nations are equally determined that it shall be allowed and sanctioned by the Conference. This confirms our statement that with the new aids of science the battle is no longer to the strong. England is right in her conclusions but wrong in her premises. Granted that the submarine should be abolished as an instrument of war, then it follows that the other new-found forces and agencies should likewise be forbidden. By the same process of reasoning we should arrive at the abolishment of the use of gun powder and find ourselves once more fighting with sword and spear and arquebus.

The Conference does not seem as yet to have found the proper starting-point. We would suggest that if the United States bared its secret archives for the nonce and displayed to the envoys of foreign countries what war would really mean another time—they would beat a sudden retreat from their present position and welcome any means that would look to the cessation of war in general. For the first time the Conference would consider in all sincerity and good faith a genuine disarmament on both land and sea.

But revolution is only a process of evolution; and perhaps that stage has not as yet arrived in the development of a lasting world-peace.

CHARGES GERMANY

Paris, Dec. 27.—"Germany is willfully bankrupting herself to avoid payment of the reparations," Senator Cheron, chairman of the senate budget committee, charged during a debate on the French fiscal estimates.

"Germany," he said, "does not intend to discharge her liabilities. She is still retaining her pre-war military organization, and even now the railways are organized so that mobilization of an army could be carried out.

"We cannot consent to a reduction in the payments."

The rank or title of admiral did not exist in the United States navy until 1866, when it was created by congress and conferred on David G. Farragut.

The Late John T. Harrison

Editor of The Alexandria Gazette:

In pursuance of our conversation of yesterday, at a casual meeting on the street, in which we discussed the virtues of our late fellow citizen John T. Harrison, I am now taking the liberty of giving you the following observations of the writer, and so that the general public through your columns may call to remembrance those solid staunch virtues displayed by my friend and which seemed inherently to be a part of the man.

My first acquaintance with him was many years ago when I came to this city as a young attorney, and even though he was an elderly man at that time yet he made himself companionable, gave me much fatherly, wholesome advice, and indelibly impressed me as the one faithful type of friend without guile and without selfish motives. It is needless for me to comment on the value of this friendship, and I will only state that I learned to love him and that a more perfect association with him only strengthened my absolute confidence in the man.

Mr. Harrison was an honest, faithful man and a mechanic of great skill, and had the respect of all elements of the community.

In the writer's practice as an attorney and also in his experience in civic affairs he was thrown more or less closely with Mr. Harrison, and although Mr. Harrison was affiliated with and was very prominent in the ranks of organized labor, yet he could and would see both sides of all situations and controversies, only wanted what was fair for those he represented, and voluntarily accorded to others what he deemed to be due to them, and in addition took into consideration the great public interests and good, and this great in born legal and equitable characteristic of my good old friend is not only worthy of emulation by employer and employee, but by you and me and every other person having to do with others in matters affecting the public. I have never heard of Mr. Harrison advising force, strike or other coercive methods whenever it was possible to meet at a council table and discuss and settle controversies and differences in the light of charity, fairness and mutual duty to the immediate parties and the general public, and he advised continuance of friendly relations and work pending negotiations.

Mr. Harrison was a prominent member of the Baptist Church, was unostentatious quiet and sincere in his religious service, and as I have already said about him in his activities in the world of labor, he endeavored to live and act the rule of "Do unto others even as ye would they should do unto you."

In civic and political affairs Mr. Harrison also took an active interest, and during the writer's acquaintance with him he was a member of the City Council and also of the Board of Aldermen, and his constant stand was for good clean efficient government and his character was above suspicion. While Mr. Harrison probably never had the educational advantages many have had and his boyhood was during inauspicious days in our good old state, yet his civic political life and endeavors, were along those lines that actually make the words "City Father" synonymous with statesmen.

Mr. Harrison passed to his reward after a long period of suffering, and as the writer gazed upon his remains this great truth became so manifest, that is, that only the earthly body be bad worn in passing through was old and dead but the good he did could never die, and it lives with the writer, and I know it lives with others as well.

In conclusion I honestly think the best epitaph that can be applied to Mr. Harrison in his various lines of endeavor, is the great climax St. Paul has enriched religion and literature with, namely, "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith."

TUESDAY, DEC. 28, 1813.

By various and direct accounts it appears, that our troops in Canada, have vacated and burnt Fort George, and disgraceful to say, have also laid the village of Newark in ashes. The destruction of Fort George and Newark, is said to have been by orders from the Secretary of War, and in consequence of an expected attack from the British. Queenstown was expected to share the same fate.

Fort Madison also in the Louisiana Territory, has been evacuated by the American troops and burnt. So we go a la mode Bonaparte.

Cap. George H. Evans, business manager of he chamber of commerce, read a letter from Congressman R. Walton Moore, of the Eighth idstrict, in which Mr. Moore stated that his absence from the meeting was not due to lack of interest in the proposition. The road, he declared to be of prime importance, and he said in his letter that he felt assured that Congress would continue to give liberally for road building.

At the suggestion of Commissioner Coleman a committee was named to discuss plans for financing the plan.

At the conclusion of the meeting about twenty-five of the visitors were guests of the chamber of commerce at a luncheon given at the Hotel Rammel.

Those who attended today's meeting feel sanguine over the outcome, and expressed the opinion that the road will be started early in March or April, and that the obstacles that are now being encountered will be overcome.

Income Tax Queries

With the approach of the period for filing income tax returns—January 1 to March 15, 1922,—taxpayers are advised to lose no time in the compilation of their accounts for the year 1921. A new and important provision of the Revenue Act of 1921 is that every person whose gross income for 1921 was $5,000 or over shall file a return, regardless of the amount of net income upon which the tax is assessed. Returns are required of every married person living with husband or wife whose net income was $2,000 or over and every single person whose net income was $1000 or over Widows and widowers and persons separated or divorced from husbands or wife, are required as single persons.

Net income is gross income, less certain deductions for business expenses, losses, taxe, etc. Gross income includes practically all income received by the taxpayer during the year; in the case of the wage earner, salaries, wages, bonuses and commissions; in the case of professional men, all amounts received for professional services; in the case of farmers, all profits from sale of farm products, and rentals or sale of land.

In making of income tax return for the year 1921 every taxpayer should present himself the following questions:

What were your profits from your business, trade, profession or vocation?

Did you receive any interest on bank deposits?

Have you any property from which you receive rents?

Did you receive any income in the form of dividend or interest from stocks or bonds?

Did you receive any bonuses during the year?

Did you make any profits on the sale of stocks, bonds, or other property, real or personal?

Did you act as a broker in any transaction from which you received commission?

Did you receive any directors' fees or trustees' fees in the course of the year?

Are you interested in any partnership or the firm from which you received any income?

Have you any income from royalties or patents?

Have you any minor children who are working?

Do you appropriate, or have the right to appropriate, the earnings of such children? If so, the amount must be included in the return of income.

Has your wife any income from anv source whatsoever? If so, it must be included in your return or reported in a separate return of income.

Did you hold any office in a benefit society from which you received income?

Answer to all of these questions are necessary to determined whether a person has an income sufficiently large to require that a return be filed, and may be the means of avoiding the heavy penalties imposed for failure to do so within the time prescribed.

Armenian Orphans' Day

"Orphans Day" for the relief of the thousands of Armenian children overseas for existence this winter on the generosity of America, will be held in many of the Sunday Schools throughout the State this Sunday. Last Sunday was to he the observance of this day in the Commonwealth, but many of the churches in the State postponed the special offering which gives every sympathetic child in the state a chance to show its pity for a less fortunate youngster, until Christmas Day.

This is especially appropriate, according to Oliver J. Sands, chairman of the Near East Relief in Virginia who in a statement today declared that unless Virginia contributes liberally during the last few days of the drive, the fund of $300,000 Virginia's quota in the drive, cannot be raised.

On Christmas Eve, he said, the Christ child was turned from every door in Bethlehem because their was no room for his mother and father. Today thousands of children unable to find food or help, are being turned away from the doors of the Near East Relief's orphanages because there is no room, principally, Mr. Sands said, for the reason that funds which might be procured from America have not materialized.

Winter Work for the Unemployed

As the result of the nation-wide efforts to do as much public work during the winter season as possible, Minnesota has informed the President's Conference on Unemployment of its winter highway work program designed to relieve idleness and to spread needed bettermnts throughout the State. This is in line with Secretary Hoover's declaration that much outdoor construction can be done during the colder months if properly planned in advance, and follows the lines laid down in Canada already, to relieve existing unemployment there.

Minnesota's outlay of $2,500,000 calls for gravel surfacing, distribution of materials, rock crushing, and heavy excavating. Charles M. Babcock, State Highway Commissioner, wired today to Colonel Arthur Woods, Chairman, Committee on Civic and Emergency Measures, that there will be jobs for 8,500 men. They will do 300 miles of graveling, 50 miles of grading, and 50 miles of paving.

"Sled hauling and frozen roads," said he in his telegram, "are big advantages, and competition is now keen for winter contracts. In fact, half of our program has been contracted for at 1917 prices."

In Canada, where the winters are more severe than they are in even the Northern portion of the United States, much outdoor winter work is done to relieve seasonal unemployment. Sewer work in rock, tunneling, deep excavating, heavy cuts, and falls, concrete construction, and construction work in swamp sections are among the other activities of the winter.

"If Minnesota," said Colonel Woods, "Whose average winter temperatures are as low as any in the Union, can do highway construction in the winter months, then other States, more southerly, could do even further with a well considered highway program, in order to provide work for the jobless. The Canadian Employment Service reports that contractors are able to spread their fixed annual overhead charges over 12 months instead of 9, thus keeping their construction gangs together. Laboh is more plentiful and cheaper in winter time, and men work faster, so that contractors make lower bids for winter construction. Stone quarries, and stone crushers can be kept going during the winter months and the distribution of material along highways to be constructed not only offers advantages of sled transportation and keeps teams busy that would otherwise be idle, but it also enables construction work to start up earlier in the Spring."

CHILDREN'S BUREAU

"Plainly the task of social study is progressive and can not be completed, and thus far the bureau has hardly made a beginning in performing the vast task assinged to it," says Julia C. Lathrop in her annual report to the secretary of labor, made public today. This is her ninth and last report as chief, written on the eve of her resignation last August.

The report sets forth the cooperation which the bureau has effected with various governmental, state and private agencies, and urges further correlation and cooperation in child welfare work. The achievements of the bureau during the last year are described under each of its five divisions, and progress in the bureau's first child welfare study in our island possessions is reported.

Included in the year's work of the child hygiene division were children's health conferences conducted in small towns and rural communities by the staff of the bureau's child welfare Special, a motor truck fitted up for health consultations. A total of 1,990 children were examined in a section of Kentucky, and numerous cases of malnutrition were found, even among the children of the well-to-do farmers. Personal instructions were given to mothers and teachers in the proper feeding and general hygienic care of children, and efforts were made to see that permanent, active interest in child welfare measures was established. In Arkansas the "special" made its way through floods, and over bad roads and steep mountains, reaching six counties in which 1,228 children were examined. As a result, the report states, several communities are undertaking follow-up work.

The principal studies of the industrial division during the year were concerned with child welfare in coal mining camps and in cotton growing, sugar beet, and truck farming areas. The report calls attention to the injurious effect of too early and too heavy labor, in agricultural no less than in industrial pursuits. An average age of only 11 years was found among the child workers of the sugar beet fields studied. An important piece of work accomplished through the industrial division was the preliminary report of the committee appointed by the bureau to formulate standards of normal development and sound health for children entering employment and children at work. These recommendations will be revised from time to time in the light of further research and experience.

Juvenile court studies made in ten courts by the Social Service division revealed great diversity in procedure, organization and methods. A conference on juvenile courts was held in June, under the joint auspices of the Children's Bureau and the National Probation Association. As a result of this conference, a committee of judges, probation officers, and others interested in the problem was appointed by the bureau to serve as an advisory committee on juvenile court standards. A study of children violating federal laws each year is probably at least 1,000, that many of these children come up for trial in the federal courts, and that the procedure in these courts is totally unadapted to children's work. The department of justice and the postoffice department were most helpful in making available the data on which the study was based.

The child-welfare study in Porto Rico, undertaken at the request of the commissioner of education of the island and approved by the governor and the Bureau of Insular Affairs, is taking the form of a children's year demonstration, with plans for repeating the various features which proved effective here in 19188-19. It opened with recreation, special emphasis being placed on athletics and active sports, in close cooperation with the teachers.

The widening sphere of the bureau's influence and the increasing demands made upon it call for an expanding program, says Miss Lathrop. She recommends three new services: First, a division of legal resarch, to enable the bureau to follow and promptly report and analyze the state statutes affecting children; considerable work has been accomplished along this line, but the undertaking is far from complete. Second, expert service in the field of recreation; the report calls attention to the value of a study from the social standpoint of suitable types of recreation to be provided at public expense or under public supervision. Third, the addition of an exhibit expert to the staff of the bureau, so that the results of its scientific studies may be presented in new exhibit forms as well as by the usual report. "Little gray pamphlets filed away in orderly fashion," Miss Lathrop says, "do not answer the taxpayers' demand for effective service."

For the past three years the bureau has been operating under substantially the same appropriation, which is almost $150,000 less than was available during children's year. For the fiscal year ending July 1, 1923, a total appropriation of $642,860 is recommended, to care for the new services and the developing needs of the existing divisions. Word has just come that the budget presented to congress by President Harding, on the recommendation of Director Dawes, calls for an increase of $50,000 in the bureau's appropriations, which would make the amount available for 1923, $321,040.

Since Miss Lathrop's report was written congress has enacted the Sheppard-Towner law for the promotion of the welfare and hygiene of maternity and infancy. This will call for an additional appropriation to the Children's Bureau for the current year of $1,480,000, $50,000 of which will be available for federal administration, the balance to be apportioned to the states. The bureau thus enters upon its tenth year with a greatly increased opportunity for effective work for the children of the country.

STARTED SCHOOL AT 9, NOW PRODIGY

Miss
Eleanor
Ranson

Although she has attended school but six and a half years and did not start her studies until she was nine years old Miss Eleanor Ransom of Boston is among the "honor group" in the freshman class at Vassar College. Miss Ransom is the "infant prodigy" of Vassar. She is fifteen years old and the college authorities were compelled to break the time-honored rule which set the minimum entrance age at sixteen years in order to permit Miss Ransom to enter. Miss Ransom is the daughter of Dr. Eliza Taylor Ransom. Dr. Ransom is widely known for her original ideas along sociological and educational lines. It is her contention that children should not be sent to school before they are eight years old at the earliest. "Instead of working to the advantage of the child early attempts to cram knowledge into their childish brain's work to their disadvantage" says Dr. Ransom. The doctor does not consider her daughter a prodigy in any sense of the word. Rather she maintains that her daughter merely proved her contention that if a child is kept out of school until the proper age is reached it will forge ahead of other children when the education is once started. "The child's brain becomes fagged and unable to grasp, retain and assimilate knowledge if you cram it full at an early age." said the doctor. "That is why I did not send Eleanor to school until she was nine years old. Now, at the age of fifteen, she has passed all other girls of her age, and she is just as carefree and natural as any other fifteen-year-old girl."

Contests Teach Children Safety

School Officials Report That Effects of National Safety Contests Beginning to be Apparent—Many Manuscripts Written

Washington, D. C., December 27.—Reduction of automobile accidents and fatalities among school children already are beginning to be apparent as a result of the national safety contest conducted by the Highway and Highway Transport Education Committee, according to reports emanating from all sections of the country it was said here today by officials of the committee.

"We observe a decided tendency toward carefulness" writes one school superintendent. "It is unlikely that the principles of safety could have been impressed more firmly upon the minds of our pupils in any other manner than by means of the contest conducted under your supervision."

With the contests over the next task according to the committee, is th grading of the manuscripts and the awarding of the 472 state and terriorial prizes and the national honors and prizes offered for the best essays and the best lessons prepared in the contests. Correspondence with school officials from all sections of the country indicate that a veritable deluge of essays by pupils and lessons by teachers are reaching the offices of the superintendents and principals.

"We feel keenly the responsibility that devolves upon us to see that each manuscript written receives careful consideration," says officials of the committee. "We are receiving splendid coorperation from county, city and state superintendents of schools."

As a result of the campaign conducted by the committee, many inquiries are being received regarding the best means of caring for local conditions. These requests come from Tennessee, Michigan, California, and other states. It is believed the committee eventually will bcome a clearing house for safety ideas, disseminating them to all persons interested in the protection of children from motor mishaps.

One interesting result of the contests is the plea from the territories for an extension of time. This has been granted Hawaii, Alaska, the Philippines and Porto Rico because of the physical handicaps that prevented the committee from reaching school and public officials ther with the news of the campaign in time for them to begin the preparation of their manuscripts at the same time pupils and teachers in the states commerced work. An exchange of cablegram messages has given these outlying sections until January 21 to submit essays and lessons.

It is said that the results of the contests can not be known before March or April. At that time a general announcement will be sent out to all schools and persons interested, and to the press.

TO:

Washington Tire and Rubber Corporation.

S. C. Cropley, President, Frank S. Flynn, Vice-President, E. Hunt Roberts, Treasurer, Ralph F. Whelan, Secretary, of the Washington Tire & Rubber Corporation, all stockholders of said corporation and all subscribers of stock of said corporation, all creditors, and all parties or persons in anywise interested.

You are hereby notified that I have fixed on Monday, the 9th day of January, 1922, at 10 o'clock A. M., at my office, 111 South Fairfax Street, Alexandria, Virginia, as the time and place, when and where I shall proceed to execute the decree rendered by the Corporation Court of the City of Alexandria, Virginia, on the 28th day of November, 1921, in the Chancery cause therein depending, wherein Winslow H. Randolph is Complainant, and the Washington Tire & Rubber Corporation is defendant, by which decree I was directed to inquire into and report as follows:

(1) All the estate, real and personal of the Washington Tire & Rubber Corporation, where situated, and the value thereof.

(2) Any and all liens against the said property, and the order of their priority.

(3) All debts owing to and by the said corporation, and as to the latter, the order of their payment.

(4) All assets and liabilities of the said corporation, whether secured or unsecured.

(5) A list of all the stockholders of the said corporation, together with the amount of the subscription of each stockholder, and the amount paid in on said subscriptions.

(6) What moneys have been collected by the officers of said corporation, from what sources, and how the same has been expended.

(7) To ascertain and report, after the payment of all costs, liens and obligations, what assets are available for distribution among the stockholders of said corporation, and the shares of each therein.

(8) What will be a fair compensation to be allowed to counsel for services in instituting and prosecuting this suit.

(9) To inquire and report any other matter or thing which any other party in interest may require, or to the said Commissioner may seem pertinent.

(10) Said Commissioner shall also report a scheme for distribution.

(11) Said Special Commissioner shall give notice of his proceedings hereunder, under Section 6180 of the Code of Virginia.

At which time and place you are required to attend, and if from any cause, said reference be not commenced, or is commenced, be not concluded on that day, the hearing thereof shall be adjourned from day to day at the same place, and between the same hours, until the same shall be completed.

Given under my hand this third day of December, 1921.

Head of New Revolt

Nogales, Ariz., Dec. 27.—General Francisco Reyna, who had figured prominently in revolutions in Mexico in the last ten years, was executed by a firing squad in Nogales, Sonora, across the international line from here late today. He was alleged to have been caught digging rifles, saddles and ammunition from the ground near Canosa, Sorona, fifteen miles west of Nogales.

General Reyna has been living in the mountains in Santa Cruz county, Arizona, ten miles northeast of here. He was captured agout 9 o'clock this morning and was taken to Nogales jail, where he was tried by a military court. Reyna's cousin was also arrested.

Mexican officials said that after Reyna was captured, soldiers unearthed thirty rifles and thirty saddles, and about 4,000 rounds of ammunition at the spot where he was digging. Reyna and his cousin were arrested by fifteen Mexican soldiers under the command of Captain Francisco Gonzales.

Reyna and about 200 followers, it is alleged, planned to launch a revolution January 1. He is also charged with having had connections with leaders of another proposed revolution. The alleged leaders of that affair were arrested in Nogales, Sonora, about a month ago . and were executed shortly afterward in Hermosillo, Sonora. Reyna was arrested by United States officials here at that time, but later was released.

FIND BODY OF MISSING SPORTSMAN

Asheville, N. C., Dec. 27.—Finding of a body in the woods of Mitchell county which has been identified as that of B. L. Harsell, wealthy New York clubman and sportsman, who has been missing since last April after leaving Roanoke, Va., to walk to the northern Georgia line, was reported here today by private dispatches.

Evidence that Harsell, who undertook the tramping expedition in order to condition himself for a hunting trip in South America, was murdered by parties in the Pigeon Roost Creek section of Mitchell county, was declared by Detecive Elmo, of Galax, Va., to have been found in connection with the discovery of the body. Brim, with other detectives, arrived here six weeks ago and began working on a new clue to Harsell's death, which led them over Mount Mitchell and into a remote section of Mitchell county. The body was found.

There were no vice presidents during the administration of Presidents Fillmore, Tyler and Arthur.

An ex-president of the United States is eligible as a member of the cabinet, but one has never yet been appointed.

Russia's New Year Blessing Comes in the Guise of Food Remittances From Relatives Here

AMERICAN FLOUR 49 LBS ARA
TEA 3 LBS ARA
AMERICAN SUGAR 10 LBS ARA
AMERICAN CANNED MILK
COOKING FATS 10 LBS ARA
AMERICAN RICE ARA

Not an exciting holiday hamper, this, if you are looking for turkey and cake, but it's the favorite style in Russia this year. For Russia is hungry. She needs bread—and milk—and beans—the stuff which saves the body from death by hunger. Thirty million of her people are in a state of acute want. Thousands are dying—dying now—while in America the talk is of New Year and what new dainties can be devised for the well-stocked tables this year.

But this hamper stands between these millions and extinction. Hundreds of thousands like it are already in the warehouses of the American Relief Administration, waiting only for the check or money draft that will pay for their delivery to some needy sufferer. Friends or relatives in this country, wishing to help their people at home, can purchase these packages in units of $10 to the value of $50 and have them transmitted free of cost to designated individuals in person. The American Relief Administration guarantees the condition and quality of the food, and so economical and efficient is the buying and freighting system that for $10 the same quantity is given as could be purchased in New York City for the same money.

Those wishing to avail themselves of this service, should apply to the Food Remittance Department of the American Relief Administration at 42 Broadway, New York, for a blank to be filled out with the name and address of the person they are anxious to help feed this winter. Food can also be transmitted to recognized institutions in Russia, the maximum amount in this case being to the value of $500.

PROFESSIONAL CHARGES MADE AGAINST PROMINENT AMATEUR ATHLETES

JOIE RAY
JOE LOOMIS
LOREN MURCHISON
FRANK LOOMIS

Charges of professionalism are being investigated by the Central Association of the A. A. U. against four of the greatest athletes in the country. Joie Ray, crack distance runner of the Illinos A. C.; Loren Murchison, star sprinter of the same club, and Joe and Frank Loomis, of the Chicago A. A., are the targets of the inquiry. It is said the inquiry will give particular attention "to expense accounts" turned in by the athletes for trips to various meets ando tournaments in which they have competed. On the eve of the reported investigation Ray announced his retirement from athletics to enter business. It is also said that the Loomis brothers have withdrawn from competition. Murchison, according to reports may fight the charges.

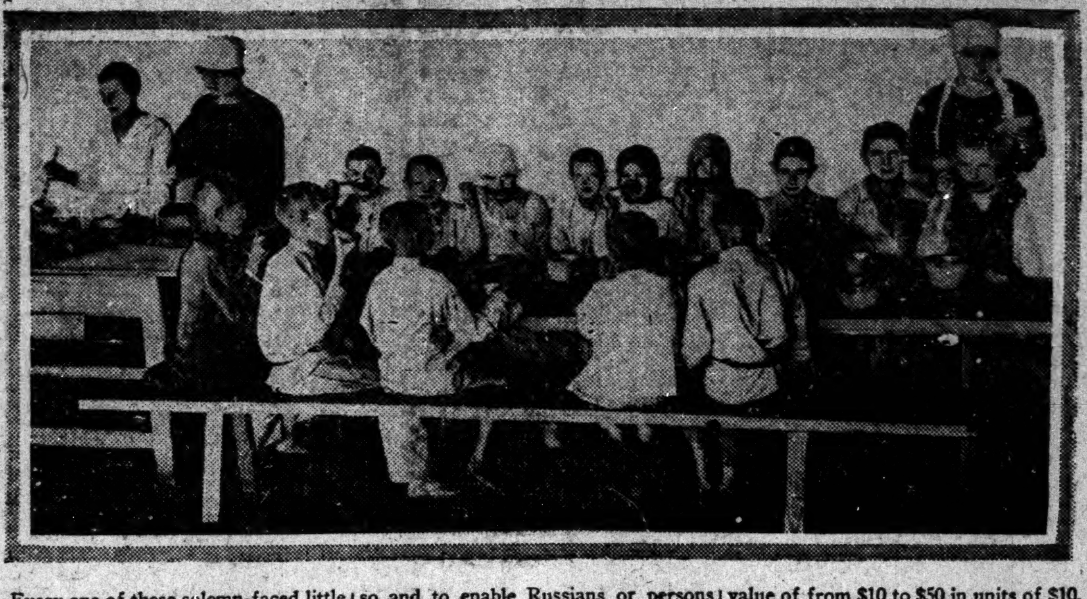
New Year Promises Food for Millions of Children Like These in Russian Famine Districts If America Comes to Rescue



Every one of these solemn-faced little Russians was in danger of starving to death, when the American Relief Administration, of which Herbert Hoover is chairman, came to their rescue with bowls of food. They contain such nourishing ingredients as rice, cocoa and beans, and are furnished to children who have now become the charges of the Relief Administration.

But there are millions of other children and their parents—nearly thirty millions in all the famine and food-shortage areas—who are equally in need of aid but who cannot be fed unless the American public of its generosity comes to their aid. To facilitate their doing so and to enable Russians or persons of Russian descent living in the United States to save their suffering relatives abroad, a Food Remittance Department has been opened by the American Relief Administration. By applying to this department, located at No. 42 Broadway, New York, or at any office of the Joint Distribution Committee, a person wishing to send such a remittance can obtain a blank to be filled out with the name and address of the individual or organization or stranger he wishes to help. This blank must be returned with the necessary check or money order. Remittances call for the delivery of food to the value of from $10 to $50 in units of $10, to the individual designated in the blank, or to the value of $500 to a recognized organization. They are forwarded to Moscow for distribution to the various food warehouses where the beneficiaries are notified to call for their supplies. The first remittances were delivered three weeks from date of purchase in New York. Should the person desiring to avail himself of this method of saving Russia's dying be unacquainted with any individuals in that country, the blank can be made out to "General Relief" and the American Relief Administration will then distribute the food to those in greatest need.

Robs Policeman in Station

Washington Crook Climbs Three Flights of Stairs to do it

Washington, Dec. 28.—The Washington police are seeking a venturesome crook who sneaked into the bunkroom on the third floor of the First Precint Police Station last night and stole a gold watch from the recumbent form of Policeman E. H. Grayson.

Grayson missed his $45 timepiece when he awoke in the police station with a desk sergeant and other policemen "guarding" the station. At first it was supposed to be a joke but it proved otherwise. With 200 patrolmen in his own precinct, in the heart of downtown Washington, the precinct officers took no chances, but reported the robbery of their station to headquarters, and headquarters men are trying to find the watch and the thief.

WIN FOURTH

The Virginia Orioles Monday night met and defeated, Troop 51 B. S. A. by the overwhelming score of 46 to 16. Capt. Leo Lyons proved to be the outstanding star of the game making 12 baskets from scrimmage, Kearny of the Boy Scouts made 4 baskets for his team. The Orioles considerably outweighed their opponents and also outclassed them.

Wednesday the 28th the Orioles will meet the strong "Director" quint, victors of the Congress Heights Jrs. This game will prove to be a battle royal.

By winning last nights game the Orioles made it 4 wins in 4 starts. They have defeated to date Eagle A. C. 16, Orioles 24; Troop 75, 18, Orioles 36; Capitols 8, Orioles 24; Troop 51, 16, Orioles 46; The manager of the Virginia Orioles promises a fine schedule of games to be played. Saturday 31st the Orioles meet Epiphany Jrs. who have won 12 games out of 12 starts.

A Christmas Story

Charlottesville, Va., Dec. 27.—J. A. Dunn, a well-known farmer and fox hunter was out on a chase Saturday. The next day one of his valued hounds left home of its own accord returning late in the evening. Mr. Dunn observed that the animal was acting peculiarly. At first he thought the animal had been poisoned and looked at its eyes to see if they showed signs of poison. About this time he got a whiff of the dog's breath and detected a strong order of apple brandy on it, being able to do so, though he had a very bad cold at the time. Mr. Dunn took the animal in the house and gave it some milk to drink. Then it stretched out by the stove. It did not remain there long before it began to show signs of a jag which would have been the delight of an old toper. The hound survived its potations, but the next day acted as though it had a very bad headache

Mr. Dunn says if there had been snow on the ground he would have tracked the hound to he place where it had imbibed too freely in order to see if he could not find a little brandy for Mrs. Dunn's mince pies. The hound, when questioned just like a man, declined to give away the source of supply.

Mr. Dunn thinks the dog located the booze the day of the fox chase and kept it to himself slipping back the next day.

Ginds Gold in Hog's Tooth

Farmer Therefore Believes He Has Gold Mine on Farm

Joplin, Mo., Dec. 28.—A small flake of virgin gold was found in the tooth of a hog butchered on the farm of H. J. Vancil, in Newton county. Arkansas, last week, and is being shown by Vancil to mining men here.

Small quantities of gold have been found on the land where Mr. Vancil and associates have a good lead mine. The gold in the hog's tooth apparently had been crushed into the fissures of the tooth while the porker was crunching stones.

Harding Gets Haiti Report

Washington, Dec. 28.—President Harding today heard a report on conditions in Haiti and San Domingo, occupied by American military forces, from Senator Medill McCormick, Republican, Illinois.

As chairman of the senate investigating committee, which has been in the islands for several weeks, Senator McCormick arranged to deliver to the president later a memorandum incorporating his views as to action which might be taken to reduce friction and enhance the economic status of the people.

EVER HAVE IT?

If You Have, the Statement of This Alexandria Citizen Will Interest You.

Ever have a "low-down" pain in the back?

In the "small," right over the hips?

That's the home of backache.

If it's caused by weak kidneys,

Use Doan's Kidney Pills.

Alexandria people testify to their worth. Ask your neighbor! Read a case of it:

Mrs. Martha L. Byrne, 209 Wilkes St., made the following statement on November 3, 1910: "I was suffering severely from backache and pains all through my body. My kidneys were certainly badly disordered. I was steadily becoming run down. The first box of Doan's Kidney Pills helped me and I kept on using them and now enjoy good health and do not hesitate to give all the credit to Doan's."

Over eight years later, on March 14, 1919, Mrs. Byrne added: "Doan's Kidney Pills keep my kidneys in a good healthy condition. I use them occasionally and have found them a fine remedy."

Frown of Hunger Sign of Childhood In Russia Today

If the photographer had only had a piece of bread in his pocket, he could easily have banished the frown from this little Russian face. Russian babies do not look for candy. All they want is food—bread preferably. That is the greatest luxury after one has lived on horseflesh and chaff.

This little boy, who was found in a river camp on the Volga, absolutely destitute but for the clothes he has on, is typical of the 1,200,000 children whom the American Relief Administration is feeding in the kitchens this winter. There are 30,000,000 people in all who face the New Year, knowing that it means slow death by starvation or the diseases caused by hunger, unless America comes to their aid.

That she may have the opportunity to do so, the American Relief Administration has opened a food Remittance Department, where packages to the value of from $10 to $50 in $10 units can be bought for delivery to designated individuals in Russia by friends, relatives or well-wishers in this country. In these packages are 50 pounds of flour, 25 of rice, 10 of cooking fats, 10 of sugar, 3 of tea and 20 cans of condensed milk—the maximum quantity at the minimum cost of the most nourishing food to be had for the money. Packages to the value of $500 can be bought for recognized institutions—orphanages, hospitals and homes for the aged.

NOTHING LIKE IT IN WHOLE WORLD

That's What Scranton Woman Says Of Tanlac—Entirely Restored Health

"There is nothing else like Tanlac in the whole world, and I shall certainly recommend it to everyone I see who is suffering like I did," said Mrs. T. Thornton, 1010 Ravine St., Scranton, Penn.

"For years I suffered from a general run-down condition, and was always pale, weak and sluggish. I lost my appetite, and at times even the sight of food made me sick. I just had to force down the little I did eat. I had headaches that almost drove me mad, and was so nervous that even the ticking of the clock worried me. At times while doing my housework I would be overcome by a weak, trembly feeling, my knees would give way and I would have to catch hold of something to keep from falling. I was simply in miserable condition, and I hardly see how any person could suffer worse than I did.

"My first bottle of Tanlac gave me back my appetite, and since taking five bottles I am free from my troubles and enjoying good health. I eat three big meals every day, and haven't had a single headache since I began taking the medicine. I am no longer nervous and that weak feeling has entirely disappeared so that I can do all my housework with a light heart and with no difficulty. I feel strong and well now, better than I have since I was a girl, and I can never praise Tanlac enough for what it has done for me."
